JAPAN ARMING AT FURIOUS RATE GOVERNMENT EXPERTS NOW DECLARE

WILL SOON BE STRONG AS U. S. IN SEA POWER

Nippon Rapidly Rising
From Fourth Rate
Naval Nation.

TAXATION HEAVY
Spending Three Times As Much in Proportion as
Other Countries.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Figures being prepared today by government experts show that Japan is arming at a furious pace, a rate many times faster than any other world power.

The figures are authentic so far as is possible to make them. They represent the work of American observers abroad, the combing of statistics here and are supplemented by such special information as has been obtained through special channels.

From a fourth rate naval power before the world war Japan crept up until she soon will be on even footing with the United States and snapping at Great Britain's heels for naval leadership unless checked.

The figures being prepared here for use of the American delegation at the armament conference show that the Japanese people now are staggering under burden of naval armaments nearly three times greater in proportion than that of any other peoples. Thirty-two cents out of every dollar of Japanese taxes go for the upkeep of the present navy and the tremendous new fighting machines now under construction.

If Japan's expenditures were multiplied by three, the experts say, they would more nearly reflect the actual conditions, for Japan can maintain her navy and build new battleships at about one third what it costs the United States. Cheap labor, cheaper materials and domestic conditions generally permit Japan to outstrip the world in economical naval construction.

Japanese workers received about one third what American labor receives, while the rate of pay for Japan's class and enlisted strength is about one fourth what American officers and men receive.

The total of the Japanese budget also is "camouflaged" according to American experts, in that it does not contain the cost of military and civil government in Korea, Saghalien islands, Formosa and Shantung.

American observers have experienced considerable difficulty in arriving at accurate figures on Japan's naval and army expenditures because of the close secrecy with which the Tokyo government exercises in these matters.

Many items of naval and military expenditure are not included under their proper headings, but instead hidden away under other heading in colonial administration, etc.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN IS MADE
New London, Conn., Oct. 3.—The engine of the New York, New Haven and Hartford express train No. 32, turned turtle and five coaches, comprising the train left the rails early today near Saybrook bridge.

It is believed that an attempt had been made to break the train, for a switch appeared to be tampered with and several bolts had been removed.

No one was reported injured. In one of the coaches, which was an express baggage car, were two race horses valued at $10,000 each bound for the Brooklyn fair. Passengers in the two rear coaches were badly shaken up.

CHILDREN ARE KILLED.
Detroit, Mich., Oct. 3.—Trapped in a fire early today two sisters were smothered to death. They were: Irene Badnick, 4 and Eleanor Badnick, 7. A twelve year old brother jumped from a second story window with a baby sister in his arms. The house was destroyed.

MRS. STILLMAN REJECTS HUSBAND'S LATE OFFER OF RECONCILIATION
New York, Oct. 3.—"Upon one condition," James A. Stillman, multi-millionaire banker, is ready to drop charges of infidelity against his wife, Mrs. Anna Potter Stillman to acknowledge the legitimacy of little Gary Stillman and to resume life with Mrs. Stillman. This condition, it was learned today from advisers of Mrs. Stillman, is that both Stillman and his wife issue public statements. Banker Stillman's statement would be an indictment of error and Mrs. Stillman's would be to this effect: "My husband admits he was in error when he dragged our affairs into a public forum. But he was deceived by alleged evidence presented against

Devalera's Mother
Lives In U. S. A.

Mrs. Charles E. Wheelwright, of Rochester, N. Y., the mother of Eamon DeValera, President of the Irish Republic. Very few Americans are aware of the fact that the mother of "Ireland's First Citizen" lives in the good old U. S. A. Mrs. Wheelwright makes her home in a modest little house in Rochester, N. Y. When her illustrious son came to America he frequently visited his mother in her Rochester home.

HEAD OF JAPANESE DELEGATION SAYS HE IS PACIFIST

Scouts Prophecies of War Between Japan and America.

Tokio, Oct. 3.—Prince Lyesato Tokugawa, who will head the Japanese delegation to the Washington conference on Limitation of armaments and far east problems today proclaimed himself as a pacifist.

"It is too much to expect that limitation of armaments will end wars but the conference will lessen the risks of international conflicts," he said.

"I am a civilian and a peace lover. I have no military training connections. I wish to convey a warning against predictions that the Washington conference will fail and against prophecies that Japan and America will some day go to war.

"We must be slow to believe evil of others. Japan is misunderstood when she is denounced as a militaristic nation."

Prince Tokugawa is president of the house of peers.

PASTIME TEAM WINS.
Newark, O., Oct. 3.—The Pastime football team of this city defeated the Mark Greys of Zanesville yesterday by a score of 17 to 0.

me and our baby, Guy. Any one could have been deceived by the 'facts' presented to Mr. Stillman before he took court action."

Mrs. Stillman has rejected the proposal. She informed her husband via attorneys, that she was "through with him forever, had no use for him and no desire to see him—ever." She further informed Banker Stillman she would accept nothing short of a court decision for herself and Guy.

The latest "reconciliation offer" was made to the accused wife through John A. Garver, confidential attorney for Stillman and the spokesman, it was said, was Clifford A. Roberts.

STRIKE VOTES OF RAIL MEN BEING COUNTED

Chiefs of Three Brotherhoods at Work on Wage Question.

PREDICT NO STRIKE
Workers Concentrate Efforts On Roads Hostile To Employes

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Chiefs of three of the "big four" railway workers brotherhoods arrived in Chicago today and began the count of ballots cast by the brotherhood members on the question of a strike in protest against wage reductions ordered by the United States railway labor board. The count of the ballots will not be completed and the announcement of the result is not expected before October 10.

The brotherhoods that began counting their strike ballots today are the locomotive engineers, the firemen and the engine and conductors. The trainmen finished tabulating last week a vote that showed 87 percent of the membership to be in favor of a strike. The shop craft employes also have voted in favor of a strike. Calling of the strike, approved by the trainmen and the shop crafts is held in abeyance pending the outcome of the strike vote of the other brotherhoods.

Although officials were reticent in discussing their plans in advance of the tabulation of the ballots, it was strongly intimated that no general strike that would paralyze the entire transportation system of the nation is contemplated. From sources seemingly authoritative, it was learned that the employes will concentrate the force of their strike upon railways that have shown an attitude hostile to organized labor. Railway union officials are convinced that the railroads plan a campaign to bring about the "open shop" and the impression prevails that the Pennsylvania system has been selected to take the lead in the "open shop" struggle. It was considered likely, therefore, that if the unions decide to concentrate their strike upon any one road, the twenty six lines comprising the Pennsylvania system will be the first to feel the force of the walkout.

Warren S. Stone, president of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers; W. S. Carter, head of the brotherhood of engine men and remen and L. E. Sheppard, president of the order of railway conductors, are here to superintend the counting of the strike vote.

W. G. Lee of the trainmen, has been here since his organization finished its strike vote last week.

Although these officials and others refused to predict the result of the strike vote, it is generally believed that the ballots will show a majority of the members favoring a strike.

Marian, however, as she faced Judge Dan B. Cull and the venire summoned for jury service had no fear of the death chair. A few hours before prosecutor, Edward C. Stanton announced that he would not seek the death penalty but would be content with the sentence of life imprisonment.

At the counsel table sits Francis W. Poulson, who also appeared for Mr. Kaber and Louis F. Hart, a Chicago attorney hired by the girl's father, Thomas McArdle, to aid in her defense.

THOUSANDS KILLED IN RUSS BATTLE
London, Oct. 3.—Thousands of casualties are reported in a violent battle between bolshevik troops and Moslems at Baku, on the Caspian Sea in Transcaucasia, according to a statement given out by the Azerbaijan information bureau today. This report was not confirmed from any official source.

The Moslems at Baku were said to have hoisted banners inscribed "Independence or death." The reds, later opened a bombardment from the Caspian sea and part of the city was destroyed. The forces in Baku finally retired to save the city from further damage.

EXPECT 10,000 VISITORS.
Columbus, Oct. 3.—More than 10,000 persons are expected to visit Columbus during next January and February to attend the more than 30 meetings scheduled, according to announcement made by Jesse Smith, head of the Columbus Conventions and Publicity Association. Of these meetings, the state convention of the Ohio Retail Hardware Dealers' Association is expected to attract over 2,500 visitors and the meeting of the State Retail Clothiers' Association at least 1,500.

OHIO WINS REVENUE JOB.
Columbus, O., Oct. 3.—L. B. Robinson, Assistant Postmaster of Columbus for a number of years, resigned Sunday and left for Washington, where he will serve in the Internal Revenue Bureau.

HEIRESS AMBITIOUS FOR FAME

Miss Muriel McCormick.

Miss Muriel McCormick, heiress to two fortunes, granddaughter of the world's richest man, John D. Rockefeller. Her life's ambition is fame in the theatre. Whether it be opera or drama, she does not know, but Miss McCormick hopes it is opera. She attends the opera every night in its season and goes to every rehearsal. Her dress is black and white, for she believes one's colors should express one's personality. Miss

McCormick said she planned to make her debut last year in the Burgh Theatre. That is as famous in Vienna as the Comedie Francaise is in Paris. "But the newspaper published about two lines on my work and my study and almost a whole page on who my parents were and who my grandfather was. I was disgusted. I determined that I should never appear on the stage if I could only be 'sent off' by my family."

Third Act In Life Drama On Kaber's Death Starts

Marian McArdle, Daughter of Wife of Invalid Publisher, Goes On Trial for Murder In Court House In Cleveland.

Cleveland, Oct. 3.—All was in readiness early this morning for the third act in the drama of life and death that has been played in the dingy old courthouse on the public square where those charged with the murder of Daniel K. Kaber, wealthy Cleveland publisher, have heard jury decide their fate today.

Marian McArdle, daughter of Catherine Eva Kaber who is serving a life sentence in Marysville reformatory for plotting her husband's murder goes on trial on the same charge.

Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton is assisted by his chief, James H. Cassidy. It is expected that two days will suffice to secure a jury, as the number of preemptory challenges will be reduced owing to the fact that the death penalty will not be asked.

OHIO DELEGATION TO MEETING ARRIVES
Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—With the arrival of a large delegation from Ohio early today, all of the special trains from the various parts of the nation bearing prominent financiers had reached Los Angeles for the forty-seventh annual convention of the American Banners Association. At the official headquarters it was stated that about 3,500 bankers from every state in the union are present.

Today was given over to committee meetings, preliminary to the general convention, starting tomorrow morning. An extensive program of entertainment, including visits to many points of interest in southern California has been arranged.

One of the notable speakers who will address the convention is Sir Drummond Fraser, joint managing director of the Manchester, Liverpool and District Bank of England. He will address the convention Thursday.

U. S. PAYS HONOR TO FRANCE'S DEAD
Paris, Oct. 3.—The United States Sunday paid its highest tribute to the dead soldiers of France when General John J. Pershing, in the presence of an immense throng, including President Millerand and other high officials of the republic, laid the congressional medal of honor upon the tomb of the unknown poilu under the Arch of Triumph. The ceremony was the most impressive expression of Franco-American unity since the United States declared war on Germany in April, 1917.

A military review, second in size only to the historic victory parade followed the ceremony. A picked battalion of American troops, representative of all the units comprising the American forces on the Rhine, led the parade.

Before placing the decoration on the unknown soldier's tomb, General Pershing stood before it at salute for several minutes.

EARLY REPEAL OF HOME RULE NOW IN EFFECT IN IRELAND CONTEMPLATED FOR MEETING

Peace Parley Opens in London October 11, to Deal With Preliminaries—Second Meeting Will Be Held In November.

London, Oct. 3.—Early repeal of the home rule (partition) act, which is now in effect in Ireland is contemplated under the tentative program for the Irish peace conference which will open here one week from tomorrow.

The real Irish peace parley will not sit on the eleventh, but will get under way later, probably in November, according to the present indications. The first sessions will be preliminary.

In November it is expected that the parley will take on the aspect of a four cornered commission, similar to the house of commons commission hammering out the solution of a difficult executive program.

If the conference does become factional, the following sides would be represented:

1—England, through the cabinet delegation headed by Lloyd George.
2—Sinn Fein, through the delegation from Dublin.
3—Ulster unionists, through Sir James Craig, premier of the Ulster government.
4—Unionists of south Ireland.

Official circles were very optimistic today. There had been numerous consultations and exchanges of messages over the week end which apparently showed that the spirit of hope was widespread.

It is forecast that the peace conference procedure will follow these lines:
Premier Lloyd George and a delegation from the cabinet will meet the Sinn Fein envoys in the cabinet room at 10 Downing street on Oct. 11. The first session will be devoted to the business of "getting acquainted" subsequently sessions will be held daily and in a fortnight it is expected that the conferees will have worked out the agenda and agreed upon a general skeleton of the peace work. This skeleton probably will outline in concrete form the further concessions which are anticipated by the Sinn Fein including the promise that the house of commons will repeal the home rule act as soon as the new session opens.

Then will follow a recess, but how long this intermission will be cannot be foretold. It may be weeks or it may be a few days.

Never Knew Crime Wrong Says Man Who Shot Chief

Strangest Plea for Pardon Ever Received By War Department Comes From Former Lieutenant Who Killed His Captain.

Washington, Oct. 3.—One of the strangest pleas for pardon ever received by the war department was brought to light today.

It reveals Hilder E. Perry, former lieutenant of the 81st infantry U. S. A. as "the man who never knew."

Perry is in Leavenworth prison. He admits he killed the captain of his company in cold blood, but makes the remarkable plea he never knew it was wrong to kill until he was tried and convicted.

He draws a picture of his life as a mountaineer boy in Shell Creek, Carter county, in eastern Tennessee, with a Winchester rifle as his toy and where he says, "folks don't know it wrong to kill." In this environment he grew up until he was 17 years old, when he enlisted in the army. And in the army, he says, he again was taught to kill but in a scientific way.

The inhabitants of the region where he was born and spent all the years of his life until he entered the army are "plain, honest and simple folks." He writes, "but they know nothing of the love or of the fear of God."

"They usually decide disputes with the Winchester or other firearms. In fact, it was esteemed an honor to perpetrate a murder upon almost any pretext," says his remarkable application for pardon. "Quite naturally I imbibed the ways of my environment."

After his enlistment in the army, he says, he applied himself diligently to the study of military science. "But all this," he writes, "did not teach me anything about the Omnipotent Creator, or respect of His law."

So illiterate as to be unable to write his own name when he enlisted, he won rapid promotion through his diligence and just before America entered the world war, was commissioned second lieutenant and assigned as regimental signal officer of the 81st infantry, stationed in Honolulu. A few months later he killed Abram Posner, commanding officer of his company. He says he could not stand Posner's treatment of him and adds:

"Under the abnormal conditions created by the late world war, I yielded to an impulsive passionate anger and just about ruined everything."

He admits the murder was deliberate.

"But" he writes, "considering my childhood environments and the military education I received, what other results could be expected?"

"Since my incarceration, I have for the first time learned it is wrong to murder."

His punishment, he declared, did not bring about this realization but the knowledge he has gained during his imprisonment by assiduous study to improve his mind.

"The man who never knew" is now 25 years old and he asks for freedom to continue his education and "to make the foundation for better things."

2,000 MORE STRIKE
New York, Oct. 3.—While union officials were decrying the unauthorized walkout 2,000 additional longshoremen went on strike in Hoboken today, completely tying that important section of New York harbor.

Contrary to expectation none of the Chelsea dock workers returned to work today. At noon it was estimated that 15,000 longshoremen had quit work so far.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS WILL BE BROUGHT INTO CONTACT WITH ARMS MEETING
London, Oct. 3.—That the league of nations will be brought into close contact with the Washington conference on limitation of armaments and far east problems foreshadowed here today.

The probability that Lord Robert Cecil and A. J. Balfour, two of Great Britain's strongest exponents of the league of nations principals including the league's disarmament aims, will be included in the British delegation to Washington, was the interpretation placed upon a Geneva dispatch to the Daily News from Wilson Harris, the diplomatic correspondent.

Mr. Balfour's strength has been taxed by his labors at the league meeting but he will consent to go to Washington if urged, said the Geneva telegram.

According to Mr. Harris, the British delegation will contain "an unexpected, but very interesting name." This is believed to be Lord Robert Cecil, who, having represented South Africa at the league meeting is believed to be ably fitted to reflect the view of the British overseas dominions at Washington.

MIDDLETOWN MIAMIS CARRY OFF WIN OVER LOCAL LEGION TEAM SUNDAY IN ROUGH CONTEST BY 21-0 SCORE

Two teams from the Boxing and Debating Club argued out a so-called game of football at Gatch field, Sunday afternoon, the judges awarding the decision to the Middletown Miamis over the American Legion eleven by a score of 21-0.

The game was replete with sharp cleats, hard knuckles, brass buttons and soft music. A little football was played on the side, but failing to attract the attention of the crowd was rudely crowded off the field. The game was played in four rounds and 40 intermissions and everybody got crowned with everything but the goal posts.

The pyrotechnics began when Coach Niblock made the social blunder of injecting into the game, one Bill Class, who has played amateur and professional athletics at Middletown for many years without rebuff from the rules committee, and who always has his family in line in case of argument. Father Class follows his son around with a chip on his shoulder and if one neglects to take off his hat to Class, Jr., the old gentleman hitches up his suspenders and is out for battle.

The Legion management picked a Tarzan when it arranged for the Miamis to play here. The steel makers have not only a heavy and aggressive line, but a just as heavy and swift moving backfield. Good interference around ends, and a quarterback who kept the plays moving fast, supplemented by a line that charged at the right time and tackled dead, made the down-staters too much for the ex-dough-boys. It is true that the Legion boys played a hard game with Paul Fuller sparking in all departments, but there is such a thing as being out-sized and the local team is accorded that perfectly natural alibi.

Fuller kicked off to Middletown's 35 yard line. The visitors made first down in three attempts, skirted end for 15 and accepted a five yard off side penalty against Xenia for a first down on Xenia's thirty. A pass failed, but line plunges brought another ten. Eleven yards more were garnered in the same manner, but with the ball on Xenia's four yard line and the fourth down. Heber Tullis recovered a fumble and Fuller kicked out of danger to Middletown's 40 yard mark. Middletown made ten in three downs. Although Ward's hurdling tactics were obnoxious he proved a consistent ground gainer. Middletown was penalized ten yards for Ward's hurdling and a moment later punted out of bounds on Xenia's 39 yard line. Owens tore off five yards, and a pass to Fuller failed, the latter punting to Middletown's 38 as the quarter ended with the ball in the middle, and no scoring.

Middletown's attempt at the aerial route failed and Xenia was penalized five yards for off side. A moment later Referee Moore tacked his second penalty of 15 yards for Ward's hurdling and the big boy subsided. Fuller intercepted the next pass on Xenia's 23 yard line, and after Buck added six, the visitors took the ball on downs. A moment later Mineher slipped around left end for 25 yards and a touch-down and Class kicked goal.

Fuller received on his own 35 yard line and a pass, Buck to Milburn was grounded. The Stephens to Fuller route worked for 12, Buck added 5, Owens 2, and Buck two more, losing the ball on downs. Schetter added nine around end, and Mincher clicked off nine more for a first down on Xenia's 37 as the half ended.

Fuller received on Xenia's 29 yard line to start the second half, and a pass, Buck to Fuller netted 15. Buck picked up five more, but when a lateral pass, Stephens to Fuller failed, Fuller punted off sides to Middletown's 33 yard line. Mincher added five, then ten, while Class lost five. A pass failed, but Mincher picked up 13 around end. Ward and Mincher added 14 to Xenia's 28 yard line. Class lost a yard, and Schetter grabbed off eight in two downs. Mincher's attempt failed and it was Xenia's ball on their own 19 yard line. Stephens' pass failed and a second later, McGraw intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards to the goal. Mincher kicked goal making the score 14 to 0.

Fuller received again on his own 40 and McGraw intercepted another pass on the first play giving Middletown the ball on Xenia's 24. Mincher picked up six, and a pass Schetter to Cox netted 15 to Xenia's four yard line. Fuller threw Class for a six yard loss and starting the last quarter an attempted pass went into the end zone giving the ball to Xenia on Xenia's 20. Stephens attempted pass right and left without effect, Class finally intercepting one of the floaters on Xenia's 20. Schetter picked up 7, Ward 3, and Mincher 4, to Xenia's 16. Middletown was then penalized half the length to the goal to their own 42 yard line for roughness and fighting and Class was ordered off the field. Xenia was penalized 15 for having a player off the field a minute later, and then Middletown received a five yard off-side penalty. Mincher's pass was knocked down by Walker, giving Xenia the ball on her own 40 yard line. Fuller punted and a pass Schetter to Wyson, enabled the latter to run 60-yards for the final touch-down. Mincher kicked goal.

WORLD'S SERIES IS TOSS-UP BETWEEN GIANTS AND YANKS

BY JACK VEIOCK.

New York, Oct. 3.—Who's going to win the world's series—the Giants or the Yanks?

This was the burning question among New York fans today as they prepared to enjoy the first all-metropolitan baseball classic in history.

The answer of course is up to the rival teams. But in advance of what promises to be the greatest series ever played fans and experts alike stood divided.

Old man consensus of opinion—if you kept both ears open—whispered that the outcome of the series is a toss up.

The Yanks and Giants have come down the long April-October trail to Championships after two of the hottest pennant races ever staged. Neither was able to clinch a pennant until the baseball season ebbed into a fade out.

Today team for team and player for player, they appear on paper to be more evenly matched than any former world's series rivals.

Both have tremendous hitting power. The Yanks, as a team, boast an average of .301. The Giants are three points in the wake of the Hugmen in club hitting.

In pitching strength there is apparently little to choose between the teams after sifting down the figures, though in Carl Mays the Yanks have one of the best twirlers of the year and the only one with a successful underhand delivery.

Those who are in the habit of "doping" world's series point to the fact that pitching has decided the issue in most series of the past. But with this in mind it is well to remember that two teams with such terrific batting ability are more than liable to knock precedent into a cocked hat.

The Yanks, with Miller, Peck, Ruth, Bob Meusel, Pipp, Ward and Mcally who can be figured as the potential run getters in the everyday line up, have a seven man batting average of .308, according to the latest available figures. The Giants with Burns, Bancroft, Frisch, Young, Kelly, Emil Meusel and Rawlings to make their runs have a grand swatting figure of .316, or eight points better than the Yanks. Ruth's fine average, .380, is figured in the Yank percentage. Emil Meusel's .343 is high for the Giants. In face of such figures the batting reputation of the Yanks loses some of its color.

These are some of the "pros" and "cons" fans and professional critics are handing out as gotham marks time, waiting for the series to begin at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Giants fans simply can't see the Yanks with a field glass. The Yank rooters declare that there is nothing to it. Out of town visitors are swarming into the metropolis hopeful of getting seats. Jude K. M. Landis, high pool bah of baseball arrived Sunday.

It is conservatively estimated that with an attendance of about 40,000 at each game gate receipts will run over $100,000 daily and if the series goes eight games both gate and attendance figures will be smashed.

LOCAL GOLF TEAM GETS REVENGE ON M'GREGOR ARTISTS

Twelve golfers picked from the Xenia Country Club, proved that they know their own course to perfection and that they can handle their clubs as experts Sunday afternoon, when they defeated a twelve-man team from the McGregor Golf Club, 17 to 14.

Xenia golfers won the outnine 7 to 5, halved the in-nine with four apiece and finished 6 to 5 for the match. The play of the locals was featured by the performances of J. E. Kelly, Louis Brandenburg, C. H. Little and Dr. Eber J. Reynolds, each of whom defeated their opponent all the way through. Kelly set a new record for the local course when he played nine holes in 35, one above par, and the lowest score that has yet been turned in on the local course.

Kelly was matched with William Sime and he took both the in and out nines and one for the match. W. C. Craig halved his match with Ernest Ary, of McGregor, winning the out nine and losing the in nine. Louis Brandenburg, local professional, defeated Fred Hunter of McGregor one out, one in and one for the match. Steele Poague, Xenia, lost to George Mattern of McGregor, losing the out nine and halving the in nine. Harry P. Williams, won his match with George Meeker of McGregor by taking the out nine and halving the in nine. A. H. Finley, Xenia, won the out nine with A. Melton and halved the in nine for the match. Roy Ary, Xenia, was off color, and Bob Keith was one up both ways and won the match. A. L. Regan, Xenia, was defeated by N. Nanninger, one up both ways and the match. C. H. Little defeated John Nanninger, McGregor, one out, one in and one for the match. John Davidson lost to A. Babbitt, McGregor. Dr. E. J. Reynolds, won his match from C. Shank, McGregor, one up both ways and one for the match, while F. W. Chew, lost his match to C. D. Heeter McGregor, on the outnine, halving the in nine.

In a previous tournament between the two clubs played on the McGregor course, the local players lost, and the win Sunday evens terms between them. A large gallery witnessed the playing throughout the afternoon, and good weather contributed its share to the sport.

BREWS DEFEATED

For the second time in as many Sundays, the Paintersville baseball team defeated the Home Brews, champions of this city, at Paintersville Sunday, by the score of 8 to 0. The locals were unable to hit Wical consistently at any stage of the pasting and this inability to connect with the leather, cost them the game. McDonnell hurled for the locals, and was hit freely when hits meant runs.

The battere were: Paintersville Wical and Peterson; Home Brews, McDonnell and Randall. Next Sunday the Paintersville nine will play Wilmington at Wilmington.

SPORTSMEN MEET

The Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association will meet Tuesday evening in regular session at the Chamber of Commerce. The meeting will be held in the rear room on the second floor, for the first time since use of those quarters were obtained. The meeting will start at 7:30 o'clock and member are requested to bring a friend.

ELECTED TRUSTEES.

Wooster, Oct. 3.—Dr. S. S. Palmer, pastor of the Broad street Presbyterian Church, Columbus; Dr. Edward S. Kelly, Springfield, and John Miller, Pittsburgh, have been elected alumni trustees of Wooster college. A canvass showed that 690 votes were cast. Rev. Dr. Palmer has been on the board since 1900.

EDUCATORS MEET.

Columbus, Oct. 3.—The second Ohio educators' conference, to be held here on October 10 in the Ohio State University chapel, is expected to be attended by over 600 Ohio educators and school men. The conference will be held under the auspices of the state department of education and the college of education, Ohio State University.

CHILDREN'S PARTY DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

One of the most charming and delightful of the affairs given by the classes of the Sunday School of the First M. E. Church during the past week was that of the children of the beginners and primary departments held at the church, Saturday afternoon.

The church was prettily decorated with masses of green and white fall flowers, the same colors being used in the other decorations, and refreshments.

The affair was in charge of Mrs. Roy Sutton, superintendent of the primary department and Mrs. C. G. McPherson, of the beginners' department. The program of the afternoon was opened with several songs by the children, followed by a talk by the Rev. G. A. Scott.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to games and contests. Later dainty refreshments were served. About seventy-five children of the two departments enjoyed the party.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED WITH LUNCHEON

The third of an interesting series of parties, honoring Miss Mildred Hallisy, bride-elect of Mr. Arthur Netherton, was given by Mrs. Oscar Shepherd at her home on East Church street, Saturday afternoon.

A four course luncheon was served at one o'clock, covers being laid for sixteen guests. Crystal baskets of yellow and white blossoms centered each table, and were placed about the rooms of the Shepherd apartment.

Following the luncheon, 500 was enjoyed by the guests during the remainder of the afternoon. The prize for the highest score of the game, a dainty vanity box, was awarded Mrs. J. Walker Gibney. Miss Hallisy was presented a lovely guest prize.

The Misses Edith and Florence Rinck are entertaining at 500 Monday evening, honoring Miss Hallisy.

UNITED IN MARRIAGE, SATURDAY.

The Rev. Albert Read, of the First Baptist Church officiated at the marriage of Mr. Lewis Cleavelle and Miss Cleo Gaffin, at the parsonage of that church, Saturday afternoon. The couple were unattended. Mr. William Edgar Callhoun being the only witness to the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Cleavelle will reside in this city.

JUDGE GROSSCUP DIES ENROUTE TO ENGLAND IS WORD

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Verification of reports received Saturday that Peter S. Grosscup, former U. S. judge, who presided in many nationally famous cases, had died at sea while en route to England, was obtained last Saturday night by members of his family.

Late Saturday, Leslie Moon, Judge Grosscup's son-in-law, received a cable message that the jurist had succumbed on board the Cunard liner Caronia a few days out from New York. Full details of the death have not been received.

As U. S. court judge for 19 years Judge Grosscup became a national figure. He wrote the finding of the circuit court of appeals when it reversed the $29,400,000 fine imposed on the Standard Oil Co., by Judge K. M. Landis.

GRAND JURY MEETS MONDAY MORNING

The new October Grand Jury met in Common Pleas Court Monday morning to consider a half dozen cases bound over from lesser courts and presented by Prosecuting Attorney J. Kenneth Williamson.

A number of witnesses were being heard Monday, and it was predicted that all of the cases would not be finally disposed of until four o'clock Monday afternoon.

GRAND JURY WILL DECIDE KU KLUX FIGHT IN TEXAS

Waco, Texas, Oct. 3.—County Attorney F. B. Tierney here late Sunday refused the demand of a committee of 100 prominent Loretta citizens that he file complaints against Sheriff Bob Buchanan and Deputy Sheriff Burton in connection with Saturday night's fight at Lorena between parading Knights of the Ku Klux Klan and a sheriff's posse, in which 10 men were wounded, three perhaps fatally.

The county attorney declared that the grand jury here would be called to investigate the incident, and that, pending its action, he would take no steps in the matter beyond an investigation by his department for evidence for submission to the grand jury.

J. D. Willis, local attorney, acting as spokesman for the Lorena delegation, charged that the sheriff and his deputies precipitated a promiscuous shooting and cutting affray which endangered the lives of Lorena men, women and children.

The attorney repudiated the statement of Sheriff Buchanan Saturday night, when brought to a hospital here, to the effect that the masked men would not unmask.

Asked if he had any statement to make regarding the resolution, County Attorney Tierney said he had "nothing whatever to say."

Physicians attending Sheriff Buchanan would not permit him to be questioned, in view of his serious condition. He did not make a formal statement Saturday night.

The fight took place when Sheriff Buchanan, with Deputies Burton and Wood, attempted to disperse the marching clansmen, who were masked and robed, after, according to their sheriff, they had refused to divulge their identity. He had agreed to permit them to parade, he said, if they would allow him to identify those participating.

After a conference with two masked leaders on the outskirts of town, where he tried to persuade the clansmen to desist from violating what he interpreted as the law against unknown masked men marching in a public demonstration the sheriff declared there would be no parade.

Immediately afterward the throng of more than 300 people gathered to witness the parade, saw the column of white-clad figures begin their march toward Lorena, down the road leading in from Waco.

As the marchers advanced cheers from the crowds which lined the road greeted them, mingled with hoots and jeers from those admonishing the sheriff not to interfere.

When the leader of the column, bearing an American flag, reached a point a block from the main business street of the town, Sheriff Buchanan, followed by his two deputies and a crowd of curious spectators, halted the standard bearer and gripped with him in an attempt to snatch the mask from his face.

Other marchers then came to the assistance of their leader and in the melee which followed the sheriff was knocked down.

A single pistol shot was heard as the sheriff fought his way to his feet and 15 or 20 more shots were fired in rapid succession.

FIREMAN CALLED TO HIS HOME

Fireman Ed Ellsberry, of the Xenia fire department, had a fire brought home to him, Monday morning, at ten o'clock.

The fire department was called to the double house on East Market street next to the City Building which is occupied by he city fireman and also by Robert Lewis. Firemen said a plumber working in the cellar had unscrewed a cap from the dead end of a gas line, while holding a burning candle in his hand. The blaze was extinguished without damage.

FINES ASSESSED IN POLICE COURT

Three arrested for plain drunk and three arrested for speeding were garnered in the police net over the week end.

Michael Leahy, 26, arrested on a drunk charge by Motorcycle Policeman Stethem was fined $5 and costs. Leo Welsh, 22, and George Mercer, 56, were arrested for plain drunk by Patrolman Jones and each was fined $5 and costs.

Milton Gould, for traveling at the rate of 32 miles an hour on Dayton avenue, Edward Eby for driving 38 miles an hour on East Main Street and Jacob Wolf, for driving 37 miles an hour on North Detroit Street, were arrested by Motorcycle Policeman Stethem and each fined $10 and costs.

BARBER SHOP UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

Sterling Fox and Lee Kellis, both well-known local barbers, have taken over the management of the Rufus Mullen shop, at 31 East Main Street.

The shop was formerly operated by Carol Minor and has been in charge of Mr. Mullen personally for several weeks. Mr. Fox has been located recently at the Coates barber shop while Mr. Kellis has been at the Mullen shop since returning from Dayton, where he was employed until recently.

The shop opened under the new management Monday morning, and will be a three chair shop when another barber is secured.

TAFT TAKES OFFICE

Washington, Oct. 3.—Support of the pending tax revision bill received a jolt today when Senator New of Indiana, one of the Republican leaders of the senate closely associated with the Harding administration, declared himself unqualifiedly in favor of the adoption of Senator Smoot's sales tax plan.

The sales tax is gaining favor so rapidly in the senate that Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, its chief proponent, is of the opinion it has a first class chance of winning out.

TAKES THIRD PLACE

Al Forbes, the racer owned by Frank McCloud of Dayton and driven by Joe Hagler of this city, was third in the Examiner stake purse $1,000, won by King Stout at Bellefontaine last week.

Holly Rood Hilda was second. Amarilla McKinney, also owned by McCloud and driven by Hagler, was second in the 2:14 trot, which was won by Worthy Morgan, with Mitchell up.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILE FOUND WRECKED

A. R. Zimmerman, 564 Wyoming Street, Dayton, reported to Xenia police at ten o'clock, Saturday night that his Hudson automobile had been stolen from West Market Street, where it had been parked.

Dayton police later notified local authorities that the stolen car had been discovered at Harshmanville, where it had been turned over in the ditch and burned up. No trace of the thieves were found, although it is believed that they had a narrow escape when the machine was wrecked.

The machine, valued at $2,000 was a total loss. It was discovered about 12:15 o'clock.

HEALTH SITUATION IN XENIA BETTER

Diphtheria is dying out in Xenia, is the belief of Dr. R. H. Grube, city and county health commissioner.

There are now but five cases, all of them in Xenia city, in existence. This condition is greatly improved over that which prevailed during September, according to the health commissioner.

At one time during September there were 20 cases of the disease reported in the county, 14 of which were located in Xenia city. Prompt action in having the cases reported and the immunizing of other members of families with the anti-toxin, prevented the spread of the disease, and there were no second cases in any family, according to Dr. Grube.

There were no fatalities, according to Dr. Grube. Springfield is still fighting the disease, which has spread extensively over the city during the past few weeks.

CONSOLIDATION OF THE RAILROADS INTO NINETEEN SYSTEMS.

This country is about to engage in one of the greatest railroad debates in its history. Under the Transportation Act of 1920 the Interstate Commerce Commission was directed to prepare and adopt a plan for the consolidation into a limited number of systems of all the railway properties of the United States.

The tentative plan of the commission has been made public. It proposes to take the great and the little railway systems of the United States and by coupling these together and hitching on the minor roads change about 200 separate railway lines of all lengths and all degrees of vigor into no more than nineteen great and vigorous systems.

It would take the Pennsylvania System and hook it up with the Toledo, Peoria and Western and the Long Island and Monongahela. The Baltimore and Ohio and the Reading, together with the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Lehigh and Hudson, would become a single system reaching from the Mississippi River to New England. The Illinois Central would be tied up with the Seaboard Air Line and minor Southeastern lines. The Union Pacific, the Chicago Northwestern and a part of the Wabash would become another unit. Consolidation in no one group is carried to the point, however, where a transcontinental system from the Atlantic to the Pacific is proposed.

Historic systems are to lose their identity and the pattern of the rail-systems maps of America are to be changed. The proposals mentioned above are typical of all the others.

The Interstate Commerce Commission was told that in the unifying plans competition must be preserved as nearly as possible. Existing routes and the old channels of transport were to be maintained wherever practicable.

Subject to these restrictions, the systems were to be so arranged that the cost of transportation between competing systems should be as nearly the same as possible.

Consolidation along the lines indicated can come, but is likely to arrive only after long debate and some of the most masterful maneuvering on the part of railway captains that has been seen since the days of Harriman and Hill.

FRANCE WHOLEHEARTEDLY FAVORS THE DISARMAMENT CONVENTION.

It is urgent and necessary to make the explanation of the rather numerous and contradictory articles which have appeared in the Parisian press on the subject of the loyal and unpretending adherence Premier Briand has given President Harding's Disarmament invitation.

Nothing would be more unjust than a belief in America that on the part of the French press and consequently public opinion there is the least aversion or the slightest distrust toward the important conference which will open in Washington November 11.

America knows with what enthusiasm the ideas which must be considered at that great council have been received by France and that—saving the reserves she has the right to make concerning the European situation and the danger which, despite her love of peace, she may run even in the distant future by being next door to an enemy—she adheres to the principle of the desires expressed by the President of the Republic of the United States.

Why then does the French press ask Premier Briand not to respond to the call of which he has been the object? If nothing can affect the importance and effectiveness of the projected conference, neither can anything touch the person of Premier Briand. If he has adversaries and critics, it is the lot of the politician, and Americans will not be surprised to learn that a Premier may be the object of certain attacks.

SEATTLE, WITH 315,000 POPULATION, IS PROSPEROUS.

Seattle, like Rome, sits on seven hills. Any one desirous of taking a primary course in mountain climbing can get it here. Puget Sound is the front yard of the city and Lake Washington its rear—salt water and tidal forces on one side and still water and great beauty of landscape on the other. A ship canal joins the sound and the lake, part of its route being through Lake Union. Off in the distance is Mount Rainier, tallest mountain in the Republic, snow-capped and majestic.

Seattle people like to refer to their city as the New York of the West. It has some of the spirit and color of the great metropolis.

In the war period Seattle was tremendously active. Here was the center of wooden shipbuilding, together with a considerable construction of steel ships. Thirty-five of the wooden ships lashed side by side are anchored in Lake Union now, mute evidence of the waste of that type of vessel. The great shipyards are idle except for repair work. The large forces employed in rush orders in the spruce and fir forests are scattered. Ocean commerce has had a severe depression.

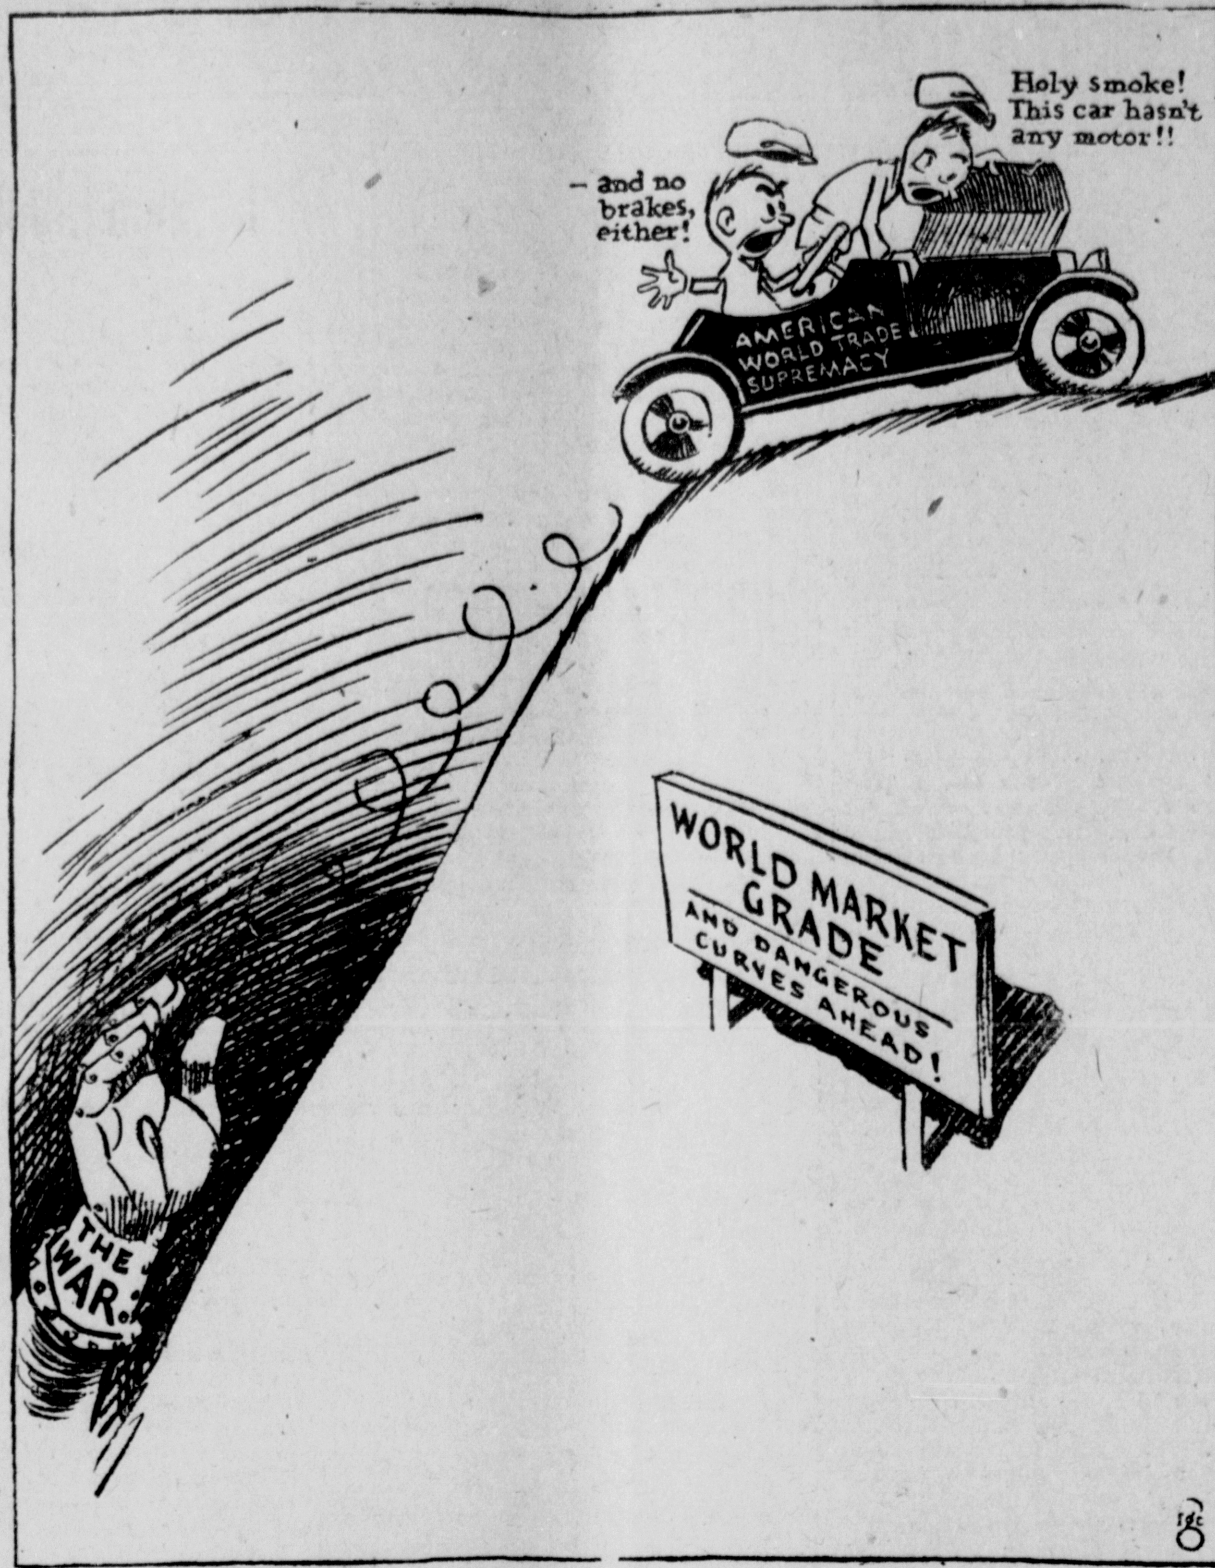

From all these elements it would seem as if Seattle should be pretty hard hit. The impression outside is that Seattle is suffering from flying too high and falling very low. Unquestionably the city flew high, but from the depression that followed there has been a pronounced recovery. Unemployment estimates range from 8000 to 12,000 which isn't high in these times for a city of 315,000.

Investigation shows business generally to be in a healthy and improving state. If there is anything the matter with Seattle, it is not apparent.

RIPPLING RHYMES FAREWELL, SUMMER.

When sizzling Summer pulls her freight, and lets the Autumn in, my lyre hits up a better gait—mayst hear the merry dim. When Summer's getting in her work, I spring a noble bluff, and, with an optimistic smirk, I say that she's the stuff. Oh, where, I ask, would be our wheat, and radishes and beans, if summer didn't send the heat that ripens all such greens? Oh, where would be the luscious fruit, the pumpkins and the maize, if Summer's sun refused to shoot its justly famous rays? But even as I deftly spring conundrums such as these, I wish that Summer would take wing, and send an early freeze. It is no treason now it's o'er, or fading to its rest, to say that Summer is a bore, and now and then a pest. I'm always glad when Summer goes, and Autumn makes her bow, and hands us hints of early snows to cool each fevered brow. When sizzling Summer comes again, if I am still on earth, I will point out to melting men her virtue and her worth; and as I boost her varied charms, I'll sigh, in accents dreat, "I'd gladly give two upland farms if Autumn days were here!"

DID IT CLIMB OR WAS IT PUSHED

1901--Twenty Years Ago--1921

A bad freight wreck occurred in the Dayton yards this morning, when the Pan Handle work train from this city, manned by a Xenia crew crashed into an open switch yard engine, which was standing on the siding.

John Gardner, messenger boy at the Pan Handle telegraph office, who has been ill with typhoid fever for a long time, is able to be around again.

Mr. William Graham, the proprietor of the Pan Handle depot, restaurant, is at Terre Haute, where he is looking after his restaurant, while a street fair is in progress. With the railroad restaurants at Xenia, Terre Haute and Cincinnati, to look after, it keeps Mr. Graham on the move.

The motormen and conductors who quit work on the D. & X. traction lines recently, have all secured fine runs on the Dayton, and Greenville, line and are well pleased with their positions.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Arnold of Bellefontaine have been here for a week or two as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scott.

TAG DAY WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Plans were laid at the meeting of the Central Parent-Teachers Association held Thursday at the Central Building for "Tag Day," to be conducted by the organization Saturday, October 8.

Foremost among the philanthropic works of the association is the interest taken in the Opportunity School held in the Parish House, on White-Market Street and the funds raised by the sale of tags will be used for the expenses of the school.

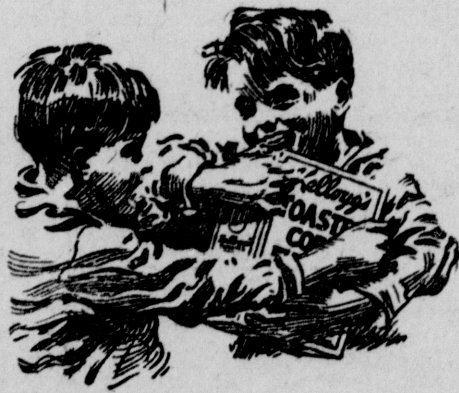

An effort will be made to raise between $200 and $300 dollars, to be used for expenses incurred by the school and to aid in supplying clothing for needy children.

Members of the Parent-Teachers Association will be stationed over the city, Saturday, and the help of every citizen is being solicited to aid in their campaign.

RUTH MAKES ANOTHER.

New York, Oct. 3.—The New York Americans defeated Boston, 7 to 6, in the final game of the league season. A two-run rally in the ninth gave the Yankees the victory, Peckinpaugh's double scoring Devore and Miller. Ruth brought his home run total for the season to 59 in the third inning, with Miller and Peckinpaugh on base.

SUPERFLOUS HAIR

Hundreds of women have probably been in despair over the fact that superfluous hair will grow on the face. A surprising number of them simply let these unsightly hairs appear and seem to make no effort to destroy them. Others purchase the first depilatory they read about which claims to destroy the growth of hair upon the face. Depilators powders destroy hair, but it is only the hair above the surface of the skin. The part of the hair that is still under the skin grows out with an almost impish insistence and in a few days the skin is as unsightly as ever.

Depilatory powder should only be used to remove hair from the armpits or from the legs if the hairs show through a thin silk stocking. New growth appears but it does not matter in this case. Superfluous hair on the face or on the arms requires different treatment.

The electric needle treatment will remove superfluous hair permanently. A certain percentage of hairs will reappear and not be permanently done away with until the second or even third visit to an electric needle specialist. The best home treatments follow.

Use tweezers to pull out the more prominent hairs and rub the skin immediately afterward with Peroxide of Hydrogen. Use peroxide frequently to bleach the hairs on the face or arm for this will not only make the growth less visible, but it will partially destroy. Rub the part of the skin where superfluous hairs appear with a wet pumice stone. This discourages the growth.

Miss M. Le P.—Sage tea is made by steeping the leaves in boiling water, until the strength has been extracted. The walnut coloring is made by gently simmering the hulls of walnuts until all the color is extracted, then strain the decoction through a fine cloth.

This will color the hair, but it will also strain the fingers and the scalp. You can protect the hands with old kid gloves and use such care in handling the extract, that it will not get on the exposed parts of the scalp. Peroxide of Hydrogen will bleach the hair, but it should be used in its full strength and repeated as often as necessary, until you attain the shade you prefer.

Virginia: Jean F.—When the bust is too large, it is usually caused by carrying too much weight and a general reduction is the best way of overcoming this. Sometimes the bust appears to be too large, when the trouble lies in the way the corset is worn. In such cases it will be found that the waist line should be larger and the corset loosened at that place.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

To The Fellow Who Has Lost His Nerve

This evening as I came out of a store, I was attracted to a man who passed me. His face was the picture of dejection and discouragement.

My first impulse was to walk right up to him and offer him what little encouragement I might give. I missed out. I did not.

And so through this brief talk I want to try and make up. Perhaps I will reach many a man or woman worse off than he whom I failed to help.

The greatest tragedy in the world is to lose heart—to feel that your nerve is lifeless and dead.

I know how it feels—for I have felt that way a thousand times.

I passed through a city recently where as a boy out college, I had gone hungry for days and where for months I sought for a foothold. I saw the restaurant where they refused to trust me a few cents for food. I saw where I had slept outdoors because I was too proud to ask for money, and because the landlady was too unfriendly to me and her bill all too large!

This incident is not related as anything to boast of, but just as an encouragement to the fellow whose nerve seems shattered as mine was, and to say to him that a man is never dead until he turns over!

Buck up, my friend!

I took a book with me on one of my business trips. It was written by a man who had tramped over part of the earth, been a day laborer, a street car conductor, and who had worked as anything he could get to do. Today this man is acclaimed by those who appreciate him, as one of the greatest masters of writing of modern times. And not long ago he was given the great Nobel Prize for literature in recognition of his merit.

The Salvation Army motto is well worth remembering: "A man may be down, but he's never out!"

There is a man who will always believe in you—if you will let him—and that man is YOURSELF!

WHO FORGOT TO BE A WIFE

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING

JOHN'S club had been giving a little party for the wives that evening. "Sure!" John had said, of course he was going, when the bunch of them spoke of it while they lunched together at noon.

"Get into your glad rags, Girl!" he called joyously to his wife as he rushed into the sitting room, going on with the story of the spread the boys had planned for the evening.

"But the children—" objected Girl. Stella was 16, but she didn't like to leave her with the other children, and then their clothes needed mending and if she left so early in the evening they might not all get their ears perfectly clean before they went to bed.

John slumped down moodily in a corner of the divan and buried himself in his paper. Finally without a word he stalked out of the house. The only answer to the Girl's half-frightened questions regarding his destination, was a banging of the door.

And after the ears were all washed and the braids all braided and the clothes all neatly hung away, the Girl went into the darkened front room and cried it out.

John didn't understand, she thought. It amazed her a little when she went back over the days and found that for four months straight she had refused every one of John's invitations for a good time.

But if she didn't mend John Jr., stockings who would? And if she wasn't there with them every evening to see that all of the tangles were combed out and the faces scrubbed, who would see about it? There was just so much worrying and mending and fussing to be done for each child each day. And no matter what other duties she entrusted to paid help, she devoted her whole life to her children.

Which wouldn't have been so bad if, in doing it, she hadn't forgotten that the man she married was in a sense one of them and needed to be included in her mothering.

The successful wife who is also a mother, has to make a fine and difficult division of her interests.

INVITE THEM TO BE MAUD MULLERS FOR A DAY

Her parties were the kind which folks always enjoyed. They varied and the crowds she invited varied. Some of her friends suggested that she must have a little note book wherein she noted all of the names of her friends, their hobbies, the things they liked and then grouped them for her parties. For she never failed to plan the right thing for the enjoyment of a certain group.

In October she gave a Maud Muller party. The invitations asked that every one come prepared for an informal time and told them, just which car to take from their stations.

At the end of their journey by car there awaited a huge hay wagon covered with soft fresh hay and lined here and there by sun flowers.

When the happy crowd reached her home, the hostess told them all to pick a huge straw hat from the pile on the veranda, select her rake and spend ten minutes in the field across the drive raking the hay into a stack. At the end of the ten minutes a prize was given to the girl who had the largest mound.

For dinner everything, so far as possible had been secured from the farm. Gourds, small squashes and pumpkins, neatly scooped out, were filled with colorful fall flowers to ornament the table and rooms.

At twilight the party once more mounted the hay rack and for an hour rode over the pretty country roads after which they were taken to their station and thence went back to their homes.

phazized by a wide loose girdle of jet with pendant jet fringe at each side.

CHOCOLATE CARAMELS

One cup grated chocolate, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup molasses, 1-2 cup sweet milk. Boil until it hardens when dropped in water. Add piece of butter size of small egg and one cup of chopped walnuts. Pour on buttered pan. When cool cut in squares.

KEEP THE PIPES CLEAN!

Keep the waste pipes clean. A great amount of dirt accumulates in the pipes during the routine of a morning. Remaining there it may cause serious trouble.

So once a week, in the afternoon, when all of your work is finished, give your sink and drain pipes a good strong lye bath. Use the liquid potash variety. Any druggist can tell you in what proportion to mix it.

Pour it down the drain pipe and then don't let any water run down for several hours. The lye will destroy the dirt which has gathered and thus eliminate any harm which might have resulted.

SMART FURNITURE MADE OF DISCARDED PIECES.

In the attic where grandmother's things are stored, there is probably one of those old tables, with four legs which all cross at the center and a top which comes up and discloses the finest kind of a beveled mirror. For they had a way in those days of putting wonderful mirrors on anything which was to have a mirror at all.

Get the table. Beg your husband or brother to put some straight legs in it which make it more firm than it originally was, and then put a number of little compartments inside so that when you lift up the cover, there, in the nest of toilet things—creams, hairpins, powder, and a thousand other trifles.

Paint it or enamel it in some way which pleases you and harmonizes with your room and you have the most modern of dressing tables! The cover may be left up, but the preference seems to be for the flat top with a small characteristic ornament.

USE LESS MEAT IF LIMA BEANS ARE ON MENU

BY SISTER MARY

HEN lima beans are served the meat course should be light. The beans take the place of meat and keep the meal economical and cooling. Cold boiled ham or tongue, a vegetable salad, bread and butter, fruit dessert with whipped cream and coffee served with lima beans as the main dish would make an admirable summer dinner.

Lima beans may be cooked in combination with other vegetables or by themselves and served with butter.

COMBINATION LIMA BEANS

Two cups fresh lima beans, 1 medium-sized onion, 1 green pepper 6 new carrots 2 tablespoons butter 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 3 tomatoes.

Remove seeds from pepper and chop. Mince onion chop carrots. Combine vegetables and cook in boiling water to cover until tender. When half done add the tomatoes pared and cut in small pieces. Melt butter and stir in flour. Stir this into the vegetable mixture. The liquid or vegetable juice should be of creamy consistency. Serve very hot.

PLAIN LIMA BEANS

One pint limas, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 teaspoon salt 1-8 teaspoon pepper.

Put beans on to cook in boiling water to cover. Add salt when half cooked. Let the water cook away as much as possible and add the butter.

Vegetables should never be drained from their juice as part of the mineral salts would be lost. Lima beans cooked this way have just enough sauce over them to keep them from being dry.

LIMA BEANS COUNTRY STYLE

One and one half cups cooked lima beans 1-2 cups milk 1-2 teaspoons salt 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup coarse bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter squares of toast.

Beat eggs slightly and add the milk which has been scalded. Season with salt and pepper and add vegetables. Turn into individual custard cups, set in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven until the custard is firm to the touch. Do not let the water boil in the pan.

DO YOUR HAIR THIS WAY IF IT'S JUST COMING OUT OF A BOB

BOB

By MME. MOREAU

Paris.—You don't quite know what to do with them this fall, do you? Those locks which you cropped so smartly for summer and now want to put up cleverly for the parties this winter.

But some one has come to your rescue, my dears! There is at least one really clever way to do just in-between hair. I've watched them every day while they danced in our restaurants and salons and wondered how they did. So now I've discovered and quite for your benefit!

Curl the ends of your hair, just a nice length for a smart saucy little curl. Then my dear, twist it and twist it tight to your head and pin it—having of course brought the front hair all back in the lovely water waves you've already learned to make. Keep pinning and twisting until all of the hair is pinned tightly to the back of the head and you have just a dear little bunch of curls there.

You can augment what is already there with those you can buy if you wish. Really, the mass of fluttering curls is most effective.

And there's the coil of a thousand hair pins! They're doing that, too. Poise a little piece of rat about each ear and another one at the back of the head, but pushed up a bit toward the crown. And bring the hair back over it, rolling the ends under.

The French roll has come—say the hair dressers—to take care of Milady's locks where they are in that halfway stage. The French roll netted takes care of the short hair admirably, but one must, simply must have a pretty face to wear it!

PARIS

In all the diversity of ideas that marked the many thousands of new models introduced by the Paris dressmakers last August, there was one feature on which nearly all were agreed, and that was their acceptance of the long waistline. Somewhere in the vicinity of the hips became the new normal line for the waist, through Rene, who in one brief season two or three years ago established herself in the front rank of fashion authorities, introduced several evening dresses with the waistline placed below the hips.

It is for the woman who can wear a fairly low waistline that have selected the black velvet evening gown illustrated. For herein lies its whole distinction. The effect is em-

DINNER STORIES

Just before Easter a gentleman out motoring with a friend noticed that they were crawling along a thoroughfare where previously they had been accustomed to go at full speed. He asked why the car was run so slowly.

"Why," explained the driver of the car, with perfect naivete, "everybody's carrying home garden tools now and you can't run over a man without risking a puncture."

When Willie came home from school for lunch the other day and told his mother that the teacher had called him a "scurvy elephant" right out before the whole class, she thought this was going too far. After lunch she accompanied Willie to the school, sought out his teacher and taxed her with the offense, which she denied.

"You called me a 'scurvy elephant' right out in class," Willie insisted.

The teacher looked at him thoughtfully for a moment, then burst out laughing.

"I remember now," she explained. "I told him he was a disturbing element."

"How did it work?" asked his companion.

"Perfectly. The lion didn't even offer to touch me."

"Strange! How do you account for it?"

"Well, sometimes I've thought it was because I sat down on the branch of a very tall tree."

A young preacher once picked up a bishop's hat and, trying it on, exclaimed, "Why, Bishop, your head and mine are the same size!"

"Yes," replied the bishop, "on the outside."

No matter what mother said, father always chose to argue with her. If she were going to town and told him about the proposed trip he would begin: "But, my dear, I'm sure you should not until—"

One day he had carried through an argument of his usual kind when his ten-year-old daughter looked up from the book she was reading.

"Mother," she giggled, "father is your goat, isn't he?"

Mother seemed bewildered, but dad laughed. "I guess I am," he agreed. "She certainly knocks me around."

"Oh, that wasn't the reason I said that," ten-year-old demurred. "I said it because you are always butting in on her so much."

Edward Charles was a logical sort of person. Incidentally, he was in love. But love wasn't strong enough to swamp his logic.

Thus it was that Eva Maude, his adored one, received the following strange love letter:

"Eva Maude, I love you.

"To prove you love me:

"First—I love you.

"Second—All the world loves a lover.

"Third—But I am a lover.

"Fourth—Therefore, the world loves me.

"Fifth—You are all the world to me.

"Sixth—Therefore, you love me."

BELLBROOK NINE LOSES TO YELLOWS

Meeting in the second game of their three-game series for the county championship at Yellow Springs Saturday afternoon, the Bellbrook baseball team was defeated by the Yellow Springs Athletics 10 to 3.

The Athletics were at their best on their home diamond and the Bellbrook nine never had a chance. The Yellow Springs nine hit hard and frequently and it was this pounding of the ball that lost for Bellbrook.

The result even the standing between the two teams, Bellbrook having won the first game at Bellbrook a week ago Sunday, by a similarly large score. If arrangements now being attempted are carried out, the third game will be played at Reserve Park next Sunday as both teams want the final set-to to be decided on a neutral diamond.

DARLINGTON CALLS ON VOTERS TO AID SOLDIERS OF OHIO

"On November 8th the people of the State of Ohio will be afforded an opportunity to repay in a small degree the debt of gratitude which they owe to the ex-service men and women of this state," said Charles L. Darlington, department commander of Ohio Legion in a statement issued to the Gazette and Republican concerning the drive for adjusted soldier compensation which started Monday. "On that day there will be submitted for their approval an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Ohio providing for additional compensation to those who served in the late war at the rate of Ten Dollars per month for each month of service with a maximum of Two Hundred and Fifty Dollars, to be paid regardless of where the service was rendered," Darlington said. He continued.

"This amendment was prepared by the American Legion of Ohio in accordance with the practically unanimous desire of the members of the Legion in this state. It was approved unanimously by the Senate and House and I know that on the above date the voters of Ohio will show that their gratitude is no less than that of the voters in fifteen other states who have passed similar measures and that it may never be said, and it is unthinkable that it ever would be said, that the State of Ohio was the first state in the Union to repudiate this debt of gratitude.

"It may not be common knowledge that the pay of the soldier was approximately one dollar per day and that out of that pay there was taken each month a certain amount for the support of his dependents, another amount for his War Risk Insurance which he was practically compelled to carry, and in many other instances a further amount for the purchase of Liberty Bonds which he patriotically bought, leaving him at the end of the month only a few dollars for his services. During the war I never heard of any soldier, sailor or marine who rendered less service or fought less bravely because of the nominal pay which he received, but when he returned to civil life what did he find? That the man who made the rifle which he shouldered had received ten dollars per day; that some workers in the shipyards had received as high as thirty dollars per day; that the wages of the civilian employees of the Government at Washington had been doubled, trebled and more during the war, while his pay had remained the same. The minimum wage of five dollars per day was paid to those who kept the military record at Washington for the dollar a day soldier. Government civilian employees received, and are still receiving, a bonus of twenty dollars per month. It is this inequality of compensation which the Adjusted Compensation amendment aims in a very small way to adjust.

"Add to all this the fact that today the ex-service man is in actual need; that tens of thousands are out of employment today and you can understand why he feels that the people of this state should vote in favor of this amendment and at a cost to the people of only twenty-eight cents on each thousand dollars of taxable property if every soldier who was in the service makes application for his compensation.

"There is another most important reason why this amendment should be passed. When the soldier marched away he was told that nothing was too good for him. It is now said that the public has forgotten those promises and is indifferent to the soldier. The soldier is loth to believe that fact and the American Legion does not believe that fact, but a doubt is being injected into the soldier's mind. That doubt must be removed once and for all and now.

"And I therefore appeal to the men and women of the great state of Ohio to see that from and after the 8th day of November Ohio takes its place in the column of fifteen states that have already granted adjusted compensation and it is our greatest hope and it is our greatest belief that this amendment will pass not by the splendid majority of two to one which is so far the lowest record in its favor, but by a vote of more than ten to one as in the state of New York."

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody can tell when you Darken Gray, Faded Hair with Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By taking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

TEE, FAIRWAY, AND GREEN BY "CHICK" EVANS

Golf—The Poor Man's Game I hope I will see golf in this country as cheap as it is in Scotland where the clerk, the small tradesman and even the laborer enjoys his game. Already, in America, it is the most nationally played game of them all. Our municipal links are huge successes and the small town courses are proving their popularity, indeed. It is because of this golf is becoming known as the poor man's game.

visited, not long ago in a small community and found that the dues in an excellent little club were only fifteen dollars per year. Then, not long after that, I met a man who paid fifteen hundred dollars for a year's golf at a club of a big city. When I was just leaving the caddy ranks, I remember with great gratitude that a charge of two dollars entitled me to membership in the Jackson Park Golf Club, which privilege in turn allowed me to enter all the big events. I remember the first club that was purchased for me cost ninety five cents. We are coming back to that as they lower the price they increase their market.

Truly golf has become the game of the masses. I shall never forget the thrill I got from the applause given me by the gallery in Columbus Park a short time ago. Their enthusiasm and interest would have been an amazing insight to any who still doubt that golf is our universal game. After the play I threw a number of golf balls that had been used and the eagerness and appreciation with which they were sought for was at once heart-rending and eye-opening. This gave rise to the following suggestion which I would like to pass along. I would like to see distributed to public courses all of the old golf clothes, clubs and balls that are lying never to be used in the lockers of some of the large private clubs. They would equip an army of new, enthusiastic golfers. In the old days when golf was a rich man's game such a plan had no value. But today, when people of very small incomes play it would seem a great and good plan to retail at low prices the oversupply of equipment in every private club—the proceeds going to the upkeep of the public courses. We have in America, as I write, the British Amateur Champion, who is telegrapher by profession and a clear example of golf as being a poor man's game. I believe the day of the rich man's son excelling in golf is passing by. I could cite some of my own hardships when I first started to play, but I got along anyway.

Another interesting case of the poor man in golf is that of Alex. Graham, new champion of Kansas. Graham is a car clerk living in Wellington, Kansas. He couldn't get time off to enter the tournament as others do and he works nights. So, through the Kansas Championship, Graham played golf in the daytime, worked at night and travelled to and from Wichita the rest of the time.

Efficient Housekeeping

To Make Chocolate Cream Candies—Just like the bought kind—follow these directions: It is best to buy a candy thermometer to put into the saucepan with the boiling sirup; when the thermometer registers 238 degrees Fahrenheit, the "soft ball" stage is reached—and there is no need to test the sirup by dropping a little in cold water, as is usually done. One can make a mistake with a candy thermometer, and the same thermometer may be used in making boiled icing for cake. If any reader wishes to know where she can buy one of these thermometers by mail, I will gladly tell her upon receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (The thermometer costs around two dollars.)

To Make Boiled White Fondant: Put into an agate or aluminum saucepan 5 cups of granulated sugar and 1-3 teaspoon cream of tartar well mixed together; add 1-2 cups boiling water and set over a slow fire. Heat slowly to the boiling point with the thermometer in the sirup, and do not stir. Watch the mercury on the thermometer at 238 degrees remove pan from range and pour the hot sirup onto a large oiled meat platter or onto an oiled marble slab or porcelain-topped table. Let cool for about one hour, or until a dent will remain upon the surface of the sirup when it is touched with a dry finger. There should be no crust on the sirup; if there is a crust, it must be removed or else the sirup must be boiled over again.

When the sirup "dents" after touching with finger, you must work it as dough is kneaded, with a wooden spoon or butter paddle. This working an stirring will make it a creamy white pound (or 1 bar) of the regular confectioners' "dipping chocolate" and one-tenth of a bar of cocoa butter (the cocoa butter comes in bars the same shape and weight as the chocolate and if any reader would like to know the mass. When creamy, and it begins to harden on the table, script it all off and put it into a bowl in ball-shape. Let stand overnight covered with oiled paper or a damp cloth.

To Dip Fondant Candies—Melt 1-2 pound (or 1 bar) of the regular confectioners' "dipping chocolate" and one-tenth of a bar of cocoa butter (the cocoa butter comes in bars the same shape and weight as the chocolate and if any reader would like to know the mass. When creamy, and it begins to harden on the table, script it all off and put it into a bowl in ball-shape. Let stand overnight covered with oiled paper or a damp cloth.

Fondant made by the above given recipe may be kept an indefinite length of time if it is wrapped in a damp cloth and tightly covered. It will have to be steamed in the top of a double boiler till warm (over simmering water) before being dipped, and often it is necessary to add a very little cold water to it as it steams, to allow for evaporation.

THE NEW GENERATION

By Jane Phelps

JOAN WRITES OF MARTHA HARDY CHAPTER 53

Margaret would have felt rather lonely in spite of her pleasure in her new home, and in her freedom, had it not been for Janet Walters whom she laughingly called: "her safety valve."

Janet had kept her promise and introduced Margaret to many charming people in a series of dinners she gave for her. Margaret reciprocated as soon as social usage permitted, and at the expiration of a month felt she had become in a sense one of a small but select coterie.

Her dinners were the delight and despair of the women she entertained. Hannah's delicious cooking made them envious, while Margaret's skill as hostess was inclined to make them jealous. To offset this was their appreciation of the food, and their pleasure in their artistic surroundings.

Margaret was, as we have said a finished musician, although up to this time her music had been kept up mainly to encourage Joan. Now she was thankful as she could often give pleasure to her guests, as well as help any hostess entertain.

Bridge she had learned to play expertly. And while rather indifferent to cards she never refused to take a hand, but gradually joined any game when asked. In other ways too she endeavored to please—never hanging back when any pleasing was proposed; but entering into everything with a zest which added immensely to her popularity. For the world over it is the man and woman who are ready, who make no excuses, who are popular.

In other ways too she did not hold back as she used to do. Her calls were returned promptly. Little amenities of life that heretofore had escaped her notice because of her absorption in Joan's affairs now received attention. She soon was remarked upon as an extremely thoughtful woman.

In consequence of these attributes she was much sought after, and Mrs. Walters predicted a very gay winter for her protégée, as she laughingly dubbed Margaret.

One morning Margaret was reading one of Joan's forwarded letters, a letter full of schoolgirl gossip, and Joan's quaint philosophy concerning people and things when her telephone rang.

"Come over to tea this afternoon, I have some people I want you to meet coming in." It was Mrs. Walters who spoke, and because it was a usual thing for her to receive such an invitation Margaret accepted, then gave it no further thought, returning to Joan's letter.

"I do so want you to know some of my new friends Mumsie," wrote "they are dears! you might not approve of some of their ideas, but that is because you have lived the restricted life of the small town. Were you in New York where people live every minute of the time, you would better understand. I shall bring, at least one of the girls home with me for Christmas vacation. Martha Hardy. She is a rampant socialist, but very clever and charming. She makes such girls as Hortense Thompson and Gloria Freeman seem very young and uninteresting. I am still fond of Gloria and Hortense, but I often wonder if I could endure their chit-chat after being with brainy girls like Martha. Martha isn't pretty, but she is very clever looking. Of course she wears her hair bobbed. You remember I had decided to let mine grow long when I left home but after meeting the girls and finding that most of the really clever ones wear bobbed hair I decided I would keep mine short. Martha says long hair needs so much attention, it takes the time one had better devote to improving the mind of the world. You should hear her talk about capital and labor, how capital grinds the labor into dust. One forgets she is just a girl, and remembers only what she says. I only hope that sometime I may be able to talk as cleverly on the same subject. I am going to take up the study of social conditions, the elevation of the laborer, the equalizing of all.

"I wonder if you forgot to send the cookies last week. I missed them dreadfully, so did Martha, with whom I share them. Tell Hannah to make a double quantity this week to make up."

"Now goodbye, Mumsie, dear. Don't forget to tell me all you do and if you have any company."

"A Socialist, and—Cook!" Margaret laid down the letter laughing heartily. What a mixture Joan was.

You should hear her talk about capital and labor, how capital grinds the labor into dust. One forgets she is just a girl, and remembers only what she says. I only hope that sometime I may be able to talk as cleverly on the same subject. I am going to take up the study of social conditions, the elevation of the laborer, the equalizing of all.

"I wonder if you forgot to send the cookies last week. I missed them dreadfully, so did Martha, with whom I share them. Tell Hannah to make a double quantity this week to make up."

"Now goodbye, Mumsie, dear. Don't forget to tell me all you do and if you have any company."

"A Socialist, and—Cook!" Margaret laid down the letter laughing heartily. What a mixture Joan was.

Tomorrow—A Surprise is Planned for Margaret.

ELIZABETH SPENCER

Appearance Extraordinary

This concert by the great soprano, is an event of unusual interest. Miss Spencer will give more than her regular concert numbers. In a few selections, she will compare her voice with its RE-CREATION by Mr. Edison's new phonograph. The assisting artist will be Emil Bertl, pianist.
